

HINCKLEY POTTERY

New Wheel Class for Teen Potters

Sundays • 12:30–3:00 pm • begins February 26, 2017

This new wheel-based pottery session is open to teens aged 14 to 18 who have had some basic introduction to the wheel as well as those who are more advanced. Guided by master potter Jill Hinckley and aided by teenage apprentice teacher William Satloff, the class offers the opportunity to develop and broaden skills in throwing on the potter's wheel.

The instructor provides a solid grounding in pottery fundamentals and assists students in refining skills and techniques. Students will assess their work, will learn how to make larger and more complex forms, and will explore methods for altering thrown pots to create ovals and other shapes.

Participants should dress in clothes they don't mind getting dirty, trim their fingernails short, tie back long hair and bring an old towel for wiping their hands.

The session meets from 12:30 to 3:00 pm on Sundays at our new studio located in historic Georgetown. The fee for a 10-class session is $400, payable at registration. Cost of clay, use of tools and equipment, glazes and firing are included in the fee, except that large pieces (8+ inches) are subject to glaze-firing surcharges.

If the session is full or is cancelled, a full refund will be made; no refunds for absences but up to three makeups are permitted during the 10-week class session. Makeups can be taken in one of the regular adult wheel classes.

Hinckley Pottery reserves the right to cancel the session if enrollment does not reach a minimum of five students. If there is sufficient interest, this class will be ongoing.

To register: Call Hinckley Pottery at 202-745-7055, send an email with contact information to sweber@hinckleypottery.com or send the registration form and payment to Hinckley Pottery, 3132 Blues Alley NW, Washington DC 20007. Please make checks payable to Hinckley Pottery.
